SANTA TRADITIONS

Some children in Mexico receive gifts from Santa Clós on December 23rd or 24th. Other children receive gifts on January 6th from the Reyes Magos (the three kings). They write a letter to the kings and then send it into the sky tied to a balloon. The children leave their shoes out for the Reyes Magos to leave gifts inside.

FACTS

A common tradition is Las Posadas. Children go from house to house every night on December 16th to 24th. The children sing at each house, looking for a place to stay. Then they have a party in the last house!

In Oaxaca, Mexico, there is a tradition called Noche de Rábanas. People carve extra-large radishes into different designs! This tradition has been going for hundreds of years and thousands of people visit this event!

On Christmas Eve, many families eat dinner together. Then they go to a midnight mass service. It is called Misa de Gallo, which means “the rooster’s mass.”
